Group Members: NCP 4104 / 4015 - 3CPE-2B

Cheng, Gwen Hero T.   Activity 2.0

Dass, Archer Troy D.   Professor: Engr. Aglibar

Francisco, Ljuvojevic Jr. G.

Manzano, Shera Mae R.

Masangya, Movie Micoh B.

Stakeholder	Category	Role / Influence
Project Manager	Primary Stakeholder	Manages and controls the overall project to ensure it is properly implemented.
Computer Engineers	Primary Stakeholder	Develops both the hardware and software components of the smart system.
Software Developers	Primary Stakeholder	Develops the necessary software, such as the mobile app, to control and manage the smart system.
Programmers	Primary Stakeholder	Programs the smart system to the specified requirements.
QA Testers	Primary Stakeholder	Tests the quality of the smart system and reports any bugs or issues.
University IT Department	Primary Stakeholder	Implements and maintains the smart system for the campus.
University Finance Department	Primary Stakeholder	Provides the funding for the smart system project.
University Administrative Department	Primary Stakeholder	Approves and recognizes the smart system for the campus.
Students	Secondary Stakeholder	End users of the smart system, especially the attendance tracker and the mobile app.
Parents	Secondary Stakeholder	Potential end users of the smart system, especially the mobile app to keep up with announcements or events.
Faculty	Secondary Stakeholder	Similar to students, they are end users of the smart system, especially the attendance tracker and the mobile app.

University Staff	Secondary Stakeholder	End users of the smart system.
Visitors	Secondary Stakeholder	Potential end users of the smart system, specifically the mobile app to learn about the campus.
University Executives	Secondary Stakeholder	End users of the smart system.
Government Agencies (DEPED / CHED)	External Stakeholder	Ensures the smart system is appropriate for the campus and complies with the Data Privacy Act.
Related Companies	External Stakeholder	Provides products for the smart system and gains profit from it.